In consequence of the avowed intention of the French to make a descent upon this Coast, as communiated by the Minister to Parliament, I have thought it my duty to number my Parishioners; which I have done by a domiciliary visitation; that in the event of an actual Invasion, such a List may be useful, either to assemble us in order to make a resistance, or in case of disperion, to enable us, upon our return, to discover and ascertain our respective claims and settlements. John Thelby, Vicar Vicarage House oct 13th 1796
